

SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1888.

W. A. WILSON, Editor and Proprietor.
ALLAN M. WALLIS, Associate Editor.
T. E. BARTLEY, Business Manager.

It is probable that Hon. Roger Q. Mills will be elected to the United States Senate from Texas, to succeed Senator Coke.

A convention is to be held December 5th at Jamestown, Dakota, to take the necessary steps to get the two Dakotas into the Union as States.

A companion problem to Cleveland's defeat: How is it that Kentucky polled her largest vote this year and the Democratic majority was not quite 28,000?

An effort is to be made by General Mahone and Senator Quay to prevent the Electors of Virginia from casting their votes in the Electoral College. Virginia's vote will be cast, all the same.

The Louisville Commercial Club will visit Owensboro on the opening of the new railroad between those cities. A banquet and grand reception will be tendered the visitors by the Owensboro Board of Trade.

There is a great improvement noticeable in both of the Hopkinsville papers. There is nothing like a little excitement, such as they recently experienced down there. It encourages things "mightily."—Henderson Gleaser.

Gen. Palmer, of Illinois, has withdrawn from the Grand Army of the Republic, and Adjutant General Geo. W. Kuntz, of Indiana, will do the same thing. In a campaign Democratic members are ostracized, and hence the dissatisfaction in the ranks.

"Somebody ought to let the New York Tribune know that the election is over, that Harrison has won, and that the necessity for its hysterical attacks of lying about the South has faded away. Of all the thick-headed howlers the Tribune is certainly entitled to the bakery."—Nashville American.

The New York Tribune's threat against the people of the South, if shooting negroes, stuffing ballot-boxes, and other outrages which it charges are committed down there, are not stopped, beats the Chicago Tribune two to one. The first named paper is going to shut off the money supply from the South.

The Washington City Republicans are kicking up "a row and a wampus" for fear the Democrats will "steal the House." There is considerable doubt as to the Republicans having a majority in that body, and if there is any stealing to be done the Democrats will find it a hard job to get in ahead of the party that once sole a Presidency, which is a little larger than a "House."

The "In and About Kentucky," man of the Courier-Journal says that "The Lord has nothing whatever to do with 'American politics.'" To whom then shall the Democrats appeal for deliverance? The enemy have compassed us about and closed in on us and run us into the snare, and we can only look upward. "Trust in the Lord and do good, so shall thou inherit the land."

A cablegram from London of last Saturday says that the great explorer Henry M. Stanley, is still alive and well. The reason that no news has been received from Stanley for so long a time is that the Arab slave dealers are said to be making an effort to establish a great Arab empire in Central Africa, and have drawn a cordon of hostile chiefs across the country to the south of Wadai, and it has been utterly impossible for a messenger to get the lines with news. There seems to be no cause for anxiety for Mr. Stanley, through his difficulties in carrying out his plans are great.

The suit of Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines against the city of New Orleans, which she finally disposed of by the United States Supreme Court in a few days. Mrs. Gaines filed her first suit in 1831. It has been up in the courts of Louisiana time and again and in the United States Supreme Court for the tenth time. Litigation was suspended during the war, but was afterwards conducted as vigorously as ever, and in 1881 Mrs. Gaines, who was then 75 years old, obtained a judgment against the city of New Orleans for $1,925,007 in the United States Circuit Court. Four years later Mrs. Gaines died, while the case which had been appealed, was pending in the United States Supreme Court. The decision which is expected will be an appeal to deprive the heirs of principal and accrued interest, which will amount to nearly $3,000,000. Should the judgment of the lower court be affirmed the mandate of the court cannot be resisted, and New Orleans, which is now very much financially crippled, will have to doat its bonds to settle with the heirs of Mrs. Gaines' estate. Mrs. Gaines prosecuted her claim for 46 years under the most discouraging circumstances. She employed the most eminent lawyers, most of whom abandoned her case, she was at times almost penniless, a statu was said to rest upon her legitimacy, but nothing availed her from her purpose of obtaining her rights and clearing her mother's good name until death removed her from the living. Mrs. Whitney, who lives in Washington

Thirsting For Southern Blood.

There is certainly one thing that was accomplished by the result of the 6th of November "unpleasantness"—the "bloody shirt" has been drawn from the partial obscurity to which less than four years of Democratic rule had consigned it. Such men as Forsaker, Ingalls and the managing editor of the Chicago Tribune have already begun to flout it before the eyes of the nation, and what the end may be heaven only knows. The negro of the south has not been voting for the past few years exactly to suit the conscienceless Republican party, and in order to carry out its hellish designs it would see the blood of the Southern people run like water. Here is the firebrand that has been thrown by the Chicago Tribune.

"The source of trouble is that the blacks will not fight for themselves and any coercive power to enforce their rights must be used from the outside. White men or Indians situated as the southern negroes are would make the rivers of the South run red before they would submit to the usurpations and wrongs which the blacks passively endure. Oppressed by generations of slavery, the negroes are non-combatants. They will not shoot or burn for their rights. They lack even the combativeness found in the women of the races long accustomed to freedom."

The negroes will not fight except in association with and under the leadership of white men. Wherever there is a considerable portion of white Republicans ready to fight, if necessary, for a free ballot and a fair count, the negroes can and do vote, but if left to themselves, they are helpless, even where they are in a vast majority. In what manner can outside Federal power be brought to bear to secure the rights of the negroes in states where they can not act in association with or under the leadership of white men? That is the great question. Will Senator Ingalls cast light upon it?

Ingalls says that "the Republican Administration will be delinquent if it does not insist upon the equality of all citizens." The Tribune says that "The difficulty is to see what General Harrison, as Chief Magistrate, can do to put an end to the system of organized political fraud in the South." Yes, there is a difficulty in Harrison's way. Neither Grant nor Hayes could run the South to suit themselves; Garfield and Arthur were too wise to undertake it, and the best thing for the country will be for Harrison to keep his hands off. During the last four years the colored voter has had his eyes opened wide to the fact that there is not the remotest danger of his re-enslavement, and that it is not desired by the Democratic party. The bloody shirt has lost its power to fire the heart of the negro and the coming administration would do better to improve the condition of the laboring classes. It will strengthen itself in that way, but will miserably fail in bloody-shirtism.

Complete Vote of Kentucky.

Perry county returns of the election have reached the office of the Secretary of State. This now completes the Presidential vote, which, if there be no error discovered in testing the accuracy of the work, gives Cleveland a total of 183,552 and Harrison 163,454 votes, or a majority for as follows: Cleveland, 285; Harrison 169. For Congress—B. F. Day, 284; J. H. Wilson, 702; making a total of the Congressional vote in the Tenth district of Day (Democrat) 15,217; Wilson (Republican) 15,720, or a majority for Wilson of 503 votes. Webster county, in the Second, and Johnson county, in the Ninth districts, are yet to be heard from on the Congressional vote.

Rev. H. M. Wharton at Louisville.

A Courier-Journal of a recent date gives the following as to the result of Rev. H. M. Wharton's evangelistic labors in Louisville: The revival meeting held at the Twenty-second and Walnut-street Baptist church by the Rev. H. M. Wharton, of Baltimore, is proving a great success. During the week ending last night seventy-eight persons united with the church, which now has a membership of over 900. Mr. Wharton is considered one of the best evangelists in the Baptist denomination, and by his eloquence is drawing crowded houses. Last night long before the hour for services the house was filled, and the pastor, Rev. Fred D. Hale, arose and said that owing to the crowded condition of the house, and being desirous that all strangers should be accommodated, he invited all members of his church who were willing to give up their seats to go with him. Over 300 persons immediately arose and followed their pastor to the chapel, which was soon crowded. Twelve persons were baptized last night, and several more will be added to the church to-night. The meetings will continue during the week at 8 o'clock and 7:30 P. M.

Cleveland's Defeat Shatters the Goose Bone.

If signs do not fail, we are to have fifteen more shows this winter. The first to fall was last Friday, the 16th of the month. Observers say that there will be as many snows as days of the month have preceded it. All kinds of weather is predicted for the coming winter. One thing is certain, it will be cold. Then it was last July

PORK PACKING.

One of the Great Needs of the City That Will Be Supplied.

Christian County Has the Hogs That Should Be Slaughtered at Home.

Now that all important elections are done with for a while, the excitement has commenced to cool down and all are beginning to realize that while man does not live by bread alone, the fact is beginning to force itself upon sensible people that they cannot exist altogether on election news and its attendant excitement, but the question naturally arises, What shall I eat and where withal shall I be clothed? With the man of simple means this is not a vital question, as all he has to do is to receive his interest and pay his bills as they fall due; but with the man whose only capital is his labor, and whose wife and children are dependent upon him for their food and raiment, it is a question of supreme importance. He begins to feel the pinching fingers of winter and sees that his larder is running low and must be replenished. But just as the city is on the eve of a grand and lasting boom he sees that he must act now. The early building of two railroads does not help just at this time, and if he would keep the wolf from his home he must begin now to guard against his approach. He starts out to find something to do, but the boom is not on yet and he returns to his home discouraged because he has found no work. Starts out again the next day, but meets with no better success. He can not sleep at night for studying and studying about where he will apply next day for work. There are plenty of men who know that this is true, and though they know that the outlook for the future of the city is bright and promising, present wants must be supplied, but how to do it is the question.

No one will deny the statement that there is at the present time but little demand for labor, no matter how roseate the future may seem. We have been revolving in our mind, since the voting of the railroad propositions, some of the enterprises that might soon be put on foot, but the need of a pork packing establishment never presented itself until the following item, from the Howling Green Times, caught our eye:

"Two hundred and fifty hogs were cut up this morning and between 250 and 300 were slaughtered this afternoon at the pork house of Claypool & England."

The question at once presented itself, Why should not such an item appear in the Hopkinsville papers? The hog crop of Christian county this year will number probably 30,000 head. This, we think is a low estimate. What will be done with all these hogs? All not slaughtered by the farmers and meat men of this city will be shipped to the Louisville and other markets. Car load after car load are shipped away from here every year. If Hopkinsville had a pork packing establishment the surplus of the hog crop would be slaughtered at home, thus giving employment to a large number of men. Time it is that Mr. W. J. Withers does a large business, but a larger establishment is needed. We are in need of an enterprise of this kind and Howling Green is just that much in advance of us. It would do equal as much business as Howling Green. It is one of the businesses of the future; there is no doubt on that point, but there is no necessity for it being in the distant future. All that can be done towards starting the many enterprises that are to be put on foot should be done without unnecessary delay. The meat packed by Mr. Withers for spring and summer use is equal to, and we believe better, than that put up by Armour & Co., of Chicago, and shipped to all parts of the world. We do not see why a company should not be formed and a large establishment put in operation at an early day. There is more money in it than any other business we can conceive of. A large dividend is as certain as the rising of the sun. It is an investment that the most cautious are bound to acknowledge as being perfectly safe. There is nothing like a quiet about it. All that is needed is for the men who have the money to organize and go to work. When we have our additional railroad facilities bogs from all parts of this section will find their way here by reason of reduced freights. Our people know well enough that a great part of the "surplus" shipped away from here finds its way back again. There is not a grocer in Hopkinsville, and probably not one in the county, who does not buy meats of all kinds in Louisville, Evansville and other places. Why should not we sell packed and cured to the country dealers and even to Louisville and Evansville? Our money will buy as good hogs as theirs. Meat properly cured here will keep as well as in those cities. Then why should we allow a place like Howling Green to be so far ahead of us? It won't be long before "excessive freights" will not be a scare-crow to men of enterprise. Competitive freights will work a wonderful change. The citizens of this county and city do not desire "a boom," that explodes in a few weeks or months. They want a steady, substantial increase in all departments of business. They want manufacturers, increase of population by immigration; more farm bands laborers, wholesale houses of all kinds, etc., etc. There is no reason why we should not have them. Look how Owensboro, Henderson and Howling Green are driving ahead. Owensboro within the past week has planned to advertise itself by issuing thousands of large illustrated pamphlets and scattering them broadcast over the country to let all know the resources of Davies county and the importance of Owensboro. The men of Owensboro are not afraid to put their hands into their pockets and use their money in judicious advertising. Hopkinsville should, and we believe will, make herself known to the outside world. Christian county's fertile lands and mineral wealth, when properly advertised, will turn the tide of both capital and immigration this way. Start the ball to rolling.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Clarksville Tobacco Leaf.

The inspection from November, '87, to November, '88, shows in round numbers 40,000 hogsheads of tobacco. This is attributable to heavy speculations by home buyers, alias Sunday-school class, in the early half of the season, and the heavy per cent. of rejections after the decline in August.

Clarksville Chronicle.

Robt. Hellsby, a well known farmer and citizen of Todd county, in the neighborhood of Middlesboro, committed suicide Friday morning by swinging himself from the roof of his barn. He arose on the morning above stated and went out to feed his stock as usual, nothing suspicious in his conduct being noticeable. Not returning to his breakfast, the family made search and found death to be his portion at his own hands. Mr. Hellsby was a man of some 40 years of age and with the exception of some mental derangement fifteen months ago was a sound, sane man. No cause is assigned for this rash and fatal deed.

Henderson Gleaser.

The building for the new furniture factory is progressing rapidly. The foundation has been completed and the framing is being rapidly raised. Soon the hum of the lathes and the buzz of the saws will be heard in that vicinity. At least forty or fifty skillful workmen will find constant employment in this enterprise. This demonstrates clearly what can be done by the exertion of a few enterprising men, not only as men useful to the growth and prosperity of the city, but as benefactors of the human race by employing the surplus capital and giving employment to those who are compelled to earn their daily bread.

Russellville Times.

The new Cairo and Cumberland Gap railroad is now an assured fact. It will be built, and will pass through Logan county. It would be a great thing for Russellville to have the road come here. Had Oak Station on the Adams' end of the O & N. railroad, will be the point in the county on the direct line of the road. A subscription of a few thousand dollars will doubtless induce the road to come here. Now is the time for Russellville enterprise to assert itself. Our capital has an opportunity to invest in a business that will pay good interest, and will pay everyone in the town and in the county a dividend besides that paid the stockholder. The road will be in competition with the other roads leading through Russellville. If built here the population of Russellville will double in two years, and things will hum with a busy hum. We hope our enterprising citizens will see to it that this golden chance to make themselves a clearing, lustily does not pass beyond our reach. There is enough idle capital here to insure the location of a depot of the road here. Let us have the road here. There is millions in it. We suggest that our moneyed citizens have a meeting at once, to consider the matter and inaugurate the movements necessary to secure the road.

The Battle Must Go.

[Paducah News.]

Mr. J. H. Battle has just been appointed postmaster up in Rockcastle county. Here's one battle that will soon have to go, anyway.

Extracts from the "log" of the hunting club that went down between the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers on the tenth inst. came to hand too late for publication in this issue, but will appear in our next.

SOCIALITIES.

W. S. Davison is back from Henderson.

Dr. J. D. Clardy was in the city yesterday.

Harry Ware, of Clarksville, spent Sunday with his parents.

Webb Hall, of Nashville, worshipped in Hopkinsville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jessup, of Fairview, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. P. H. Cunningham, of Henderson, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. James G. Bramham left yesterday for Owensboro.

Miss Mollie Hardwick, of Elkton, is visiting Mrs. W. L. Thompson.

Miss Susie Shelby, of Clarksville, is visiting Miss Fannie Shunklin.

W. H. Howe, of Nashville, spent Sunday and Monday in the city.

Will Griffith returned Saturday from a visit of several days to St. Louis.

Mr. Edward Bradshaw and family, of Paducah, who had been visiting relatives in the city and county, returned to Paducah yesterday.

Harry L. Means, of Louisville, one of the Courier-Journal's best and most energetic reporters, arrived in the city Sunday on a visit to his friends.

Mrs. Laura Holloway, accompanied by Mr. Robert Holloway, left Wednesday for Hopkinsville to visit her daughter, Mrs. Judge Joe McCarroll. —Henderson Journal.

Mrs. Geo. Young and children left Thursday last for Nashville, where they were to be joined by Mr. Young and proceed on their journey to Decatur, Ala., their home, from which they had been absent since the yellow fever made his appearance.

Lecture No. 3.

Col. J. P. Sanford will lecture at the Baptist Church next Monday night, December 3d, on "Old Things and New." Col. Sanford comes here under the auspices of the Chautauques, his being the third of a series of lectures planned by that Society for the winter months. No lecturer has ever been here who has any stronger endorsements from those who are competent to judge than Col. Sanford, and he will have a large and appreciative audience. Everybody should go. The following is from the Daily Times, Maude, Indiana:

"Col. Sanford has won for himself a reputation in Maude that can never be effaced. As a lecturer he stands without a peer on the American platform."

Col. Sanford has crossed the Atlantic nineteen times, sailed round the world three times, and delivered more lectures than any man living. All who stay away next Monday night will miss a rare treat.

Programme.

The following is the programme of the entertainment to be given at the Opera House to-night.

1. The Milk-maid's Convention.
2. The Farmer's Call.
3. The Milk-maid's Chorus.
4. Duet—"The Little Dairy Maid."
5. The Milk-maid's Drill.
6. Solo—Selection from Little Tycoon.
7. Duet—"Whither Bound, Fair Maid."
8. Instrumental Solo.
9. Song of Milk Cans, Chalk and Pump.
10. Solo—"The Farmer's Wife."
11. Grand Finale.

Tickets will be on sale to-day at the box office only.

A supper will also be set at the Russell store room, corner of Eighth and Main streets. Admission to entertainment 35 cents, to supper room 25 cents. To both 50 cents.

Being More Pleasant

To the Taste, more acceptable to the stomach, and more truly beneficial in its action, the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is rapidly superseding all others. Try it. One bottle will prove its merits, for sale in 50 cents and $1.00 bottles.

THE SABLE MESSENGER.

Heavy Mortality During the Last few Days.

Miss Fannie King, of Fairview, died at that place Wednesday night last, of bronchitis. She was about 60 years of age.

Mrs. W. R. Gamble, of the Antioch neighborhood, died Thursday, aged about 30 years.

Dr. J. L. Walker, of this city, who died Thursday, was buried Friday in the city cemetery. The funeral took place from the undertaking rooms of Thompson & McReynolds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. W. Lewis conducted the services at the grave.

Mrs. Jas. H. White, of Garrettsburg, died Thursday and was buried the next day. She was about 30 years old.

Oliver McReynolds, a colored man living at Mrs. Lewis' place, died Friday and a colored child died at Galveston the same day.

Dr. R. W. Ware and family left yesterday for Dixon, Ky., where they will remain until about the first of next August. The doctor will again engage in the tobacco business at that point, but says that he will be one of the passengers on the first train that runs over the Ohio Valley railroad to Hopkinsville.

HERE AND THERE.

Thanksgiving next Thursday.

Next Monday will be County Court day.

There was considerable ice yesterday morning.

The post-office will be closed from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. Thursday.

The mercury dropped to 30 degrees above last Sunday night.

Horro, to the wife of Dr. W. Williams, at Church Hill, Sunday, a fine girl.

Dr. Williams is quite sick with pneumonia at his home at Church Hill.

Rumor says that there are to be three weddings in the city in a few weeks.

There will be communion services at the First Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning.

The banks will be closed Thursday, and all paper maturing on that day must be met the day before.

We understand that Mrs. Fairclough will be an applicant for the position of postmaster at this place.

The young people had a pleasant social at Mrs. Shunklin's Saturday evening, which was largely attended.

Curbing for a new pavement in front of the residence of Mr. Stephen Trice, on Main street, has been put down.

Don't forget the Dairy Maid's concert at the Opera House and the supper in the Russell store room to-night.

Thanksgiving services at the Christian Church next Thursday morning, Nov. 29, W. W. Lowie will preach the sermon.

"I wonder who will get Mr. Latham's piano?" is often heard. There is no telling who, for everybody stands a chance.

There have been 12 accessions to the Ninth Street Presbyterian church since the meeting began a little over two weeks ago.

Wiley & Parker have commenced to rebuild their business house on Ninth street, near the depot, which was burned a little over two weeks ago.

The services at the Ninth St. Presbyterian church will be kept up during this week. Prayer meeting at 3:30 in the afternoon and preaching at night.

Mr. A. W. Pyle, who has been seriously ill with stricture of the bowels for a week or more, is still far from well, though there has been some improvement in his condition.

A thanksgiving service will be held at the Casky Grange Hall at 11 o'clock Thursday, by Rev. J. G. Kendall assisted by Rev. S. P. Forgy. All are invited.

Send your orders to J. S. Brown, Springfield, Tenn., for pure Tennessee and Kentucky whiskies and apple and peach brandies. Prices of whiskies $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.25, according to age. Brandies $2 and $2.50.

Mr. P. H. Cunningham, of Henderson, was in the city yesterday and brought with him, the cheering information that the O. V. Railroad is surely going to extend its line to Florence, Alabama, without unnecessary delay.

We have heard many expressions of satisfaction at the contemplated removal of the postoffice. The room under this office is large and commodious and is the most central, and in many respects the most desirable location in the city for the office.

Mr. W. T. Tandy has bought the beautiful vacant lot on the northwest corner of Clay and Sixteenth streets. They do say that William had a private reason for seeking that location and making his investment at this particular time.

If you don't get the piano you may get the twelve dollar Heppelwhite dress pattern, on the Symra rug, or some of the other presents, by spending your money at the dry goods house of C. M. Latham. One person has as good a chance as another.

If you do not go to the Opera House to-morrow night and see "Crisis Cross" is a musical comedy and has met with great success wherever presented, and Miss Walters in the leading character is said by the press of the State to be irresistible.

When you visit Clarksville call on Lewis Mitchell, Arlington Block, at his new cafe, where will be found the best brands of liquors, wines, &c., in the state. Everything "newly fitted up and first class." Will also run the business at old stand, and would be pleased to see his old friends at either place.

Mr. C. M. Latham's show window attracts every passer-by. When it is remembered that everything in it, from the gaiter to the ticket holder, is no wonder it attracts. Every purchaser of a dollar's worth is entitled to a number, and there is no telling how many luck will strike.

Mr. Kirtley Twyman, the venerable brick-mason who still works at his trade, though in the 87th year of his age, sustained a serious accident last Thursday while topping a chimney for W. A. P. Pool, on Jessup Avenue. The old gentleman lost his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet and had his hip dislocated by the fall. He was taken home and properly cared for and is doing well at this time. Though Mr. Twyman is the oldest man in the city he possesses wonderful vitality and will probably soon be out again.

CREATED A LITTLE BREEZE.

Of Opposition in the Democratic Ranks of Owensboro.

The announcement in last Friday's issue that Maj. S. R. Crumbaugh, of this city, would be an applicant for appointment by the new administration created quite a breeze in the columns of Owensboro's two daily papers, which was nothing more than a natural result. Of course the papers of that city would rather see one of the Owensboro Republicans get the plum than another. Hopkinsville man willist both the papers dwell at length on Major Crumbaugh's endorsement by many counties in the State for Secretary of the Navy they both candidly admit that he made a most efficient Collector, that his subordinates were also efficient, sober and good men in every way. What more could be required? If a man who will run the office on that plan is the one the incoming administration wants it cannot find a better man than Maj. Crumbaugh, but we do not think the two Democratic papers of Owensboro, nor the Democratic South Kentuckian will be consulted in the matter. Maj. Crumbaugh will present his claims on his merits alone. Honorable mention is commendable, and we do not think it will bar Maj. Crumbaugh from receiving the appointment he seeks. We reiterate that it is a gentleman in every sense of the term, and as such is held in the highest estimation by all of our people. His dignity certainly will not detract from the high esteem in which he is held by those who know him.

The following extract from the Messenger is a pretty good recommendation from a Democratic paper, and may have some weight with those who will have the disliking out of public offices in a short time:

"His administration was excellent, among the best the office ever had. Any man of common intelligence, who will keep sober and behave himself, can make a good record as Collector of Internal Revenue. Crumbaugh kept sober. He is a man of exemplary personal habits. His subordinates were men of proper habits, too. He tolerated no drunkenness among them. He held them as well disciplined as a class of school boys."

We hope our Owensboro friends were not actuated by malice or a desire to injure a good man and officer because they prefer some one of their own city should receive the appointment. All Maj. Crumbaugh asks is "a fair trial." He is not afraid. This is not the South Kentuckian's plea and this is the last we shall have to do with it, but we do want to see that Maj. Crumbaugh gets justice from both sides of the political fence.

A DASTARD'S DEED.

A Sample of Meanness Sold-m Surpassed.

Last Friday morning before daylight some unknown party went to the stable of Jack Tally, a farmer living about three and a half miles north of the city, and poisoned one of his mules. The work was done by placing powdered glass in the trough mixed with corn meal. The evident intention of the miscreant was to kill all of the stock in the stable, but fortunately only one mule so enough of the mixture to prove fatal. Another animal, a good mare, was made very sick, but recovered. The mule died during the day Saturday. Comment is superfluous in a case like this. It is indeed unfortunate that there are creatures as large as this, but so depraved as to perpetrate such deeds as this while honest people are in their herds. It is to be hoped the scoundrel may be discovered and properly punished. It was not long ago that some one harked a fine orchard belonging to E. G. Tinsley and burned a school-house in the same neighborhood.

THEY RATIFIED.

The Republicans, according to previous announcement, swooped down on the town last Friday night. It is not our intention at this late day to give a full description of what took place on (to them) that memorable night. All the colored Republicans in the county, it seemed, were present, and our Democratic friends do not care to know more of it than they didn't see—even if they were not in town and saw nothing. We think that the Reps. made a pretty fair show—in numbers. They had quite a lot of torches and transparencies and two or three wagons in the procession. The log cabin with its two live coons on and about half a dozen two-legged ones inside was the best feature of the business.

"Warrior" hand might have made some good points, but if it did we failed to hear it, as there was such a din of cries for Harrison, hurrahs for the "Ratification," and Leo Ellis' improved cannon kept up such a racket that nothing could be heard that sounded like music. The number in the procession has been estimated at from five to six hundred, about four-fifths of whom were whites. The speakers from a distance failed to show up and Col. Al Clark, Ohio Anderson, James Bechtolt, John Peland, Cy Brown and two or three colored brothers "chipped in" with a few remarks and said enough to give the crowd a cue to yell, and that was about all that was done. No doubt the colored people thought that Christian county had elected Harrison. The "thing" is over with. It was a small affair to what was expected by most people.

THE TRIAL.

Of The Young Man Charged With Blowing a Newspaper Man Out of Town.

Several of the youth of the town, are supposed to have been in the crowd that, on the 10th inst., unceremoniously escorted a young man by the name of John Gentry out to the city limits because he had come down to use "his influence," as was supposed, against the railroad proposition. Mr. Gentry was not very well acquainted in the city, and City Attorney Ferguson had to get a constable to go with him to the city. Mr. Gentry had to get a constable to go with him to the city. Mr. Gentry had to get a constable to go with him to the city.

The trial will commence in the City Court this morning at 10:30. The young gentlemen who are to appear are Claude Clark, Wm. Ragsdale, Ed. Trice, Charles Anderson, James McLeod, Joe Steinigen, Harry Tandy, Archie Humes, Walter Hythe, Jake Meyer, James Ware and Charles Meyer. They will be represented by the best legal talent in the city probably a lawyer to each of them.

It will be, should City Attorney Ferguson not make a motion for striking the case from docket, the event of the "season." Somehow "the boys" do not feel at all uneasy, and probably each one who has been summoned to appear will be promptly on hand. Anarchy, Mr. Clark.

TOLPEO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co., General Practitioners of medicine for 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and the effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly,

TOBACCO NEWS.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2435 hhds, with receipts for the same period of 519 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 7592 hhds.

There are no new features to report concerning the situation on dark tobacco; the market has been very steady this week and the offerings have been mainly of the common grades. A few hhds. of new dark tobacco have been offered but sales have been too small to establish any quotations for the new crop. The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco to-day.

Trash, from $1.00 to 2.00.
Common to medium logs from $2.00 to 3.00.
Dark rich Lugs extra quality from $3.00 to 4.00.
Common leaf from $3.00 to 4.00.
Good leaf, extra length, from $5.00 to 7.50.
Medium to good leaf $1.00 to 6.00.
Dark wrapper leaf $7.00 to 10.00.

Cleveland's presidency means three things: First, the entire American Union; second, economy in Federal expenditure, and third, lower taxes for the people. These are the three duties of the future. If the Republic can carry out these duties it will do a good thing for itself and for the country. It is fair to do so. It will have four years and no more. —New York Herald, Ind.

Messrs. Geo. W. Collins, Henry J. Stites, Jas. M. Hopkins and Mrs. Jno. W. Richards united with the Baptist church Sunday. This makes a total of 57 as the result of the recent series of meetings.

The Fifth Avenue Hotel Louisville.

Louisville has increased in population and is remarkable for its improvement in architecture. Its hotel accommodations have kept pace with the general advance. Jas. T. Ritchie, proprietor of the Fifth Avenue, situated scarcely 1 1/2 squares from the State and Federal Courts, and near the principal places of amusement, is up with the times and has recently refurnished this excellent place, in handsome style. For cleanliness and comfort it is not surpassed, and that is the great thing—the desideratum, we might say—in hotels, a thing desired, but seldom met with. We took a general view and inspection in detail of the Fifth Avenue, the other day, and were surprised and pleased with the comfort and home-like appearance everywhere, from cellar to attic. The tables do not groan under the abundance, but would if they knew how, for there is plenty of well-cooked and well-served food in variety placed upon them to tempt the inner man. This hotel is pronounced to be the best $2 hotel on the continent, and we confess that it looks that way, for it seemed to us to be fully equal to many of the $3 houses where we have rested in our peregrinations.

A meeting is in progress at the Christian Church at Dawson, conducted by Rev. V. W. Davis, an evangelist, of Corydon, Ky. There have been four or five accessions and there is increasing interest. The meeting commenced on the 15th inst, and will probably continue during this week.

There are ten neat shops in the city.
